

WORLD
RESOURCES
INSTITUTE

Mary Robinson
Foundation
Climate Justice

THE CLIMATE JUSTICE DIALOGUE

DEVELOPING A HUMAN-CENTERED NARRATIVE AND CREATIVE IDEAS ON HOW TO ADDRESS EQUITY WITHIN THE CLIMATE CHANGE REGIME

Climate Justice Dialogue Mobilising Bold Action, Santiago, Chile April 2013

WHAT IS THE PROBLEM?

- Lack of leadership nationally and internationally on climate change
- Lack of urgency and political will to take the urgent action required
- People most affected by the problem did least to cause it
- Not enough safeguards in place to protect the most vulnerable people
- Trust in the UNFCCC process at an all time low
- Growing inequality is one of the biggest social, economic and political challenges of our time. But it is not inevitable - Zany Minton Beddoes, The economist

THE SAME BOAT

WHAT IS THE PATHWAY FORWARD ?

Use the 3 year window between now and December 2015 to:

- Change the narrative on climate change to be more people centred
- Identify ways to apply the principles of equity and CBRDR-RC in practice with a view to increasing ambition
- Mobilize and create constituencies of demand
- Compel political and world leaders to act

THE CLIMATE JUSTICE DIALOGUE

Climate Justice Narratives

Create constituencies of demand

Narrative Catalyst Mobilization Aligning Interest	Evidence Options Credibility/Trust Build Consensus
Political will	Ambitious & equitable pathways

Evidence base

Creative ideas and options

Influence spectrum of stakeholders and build consensus

An equitable and ambitious climate agreement reached in 2015

THE HIGH LEVEL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

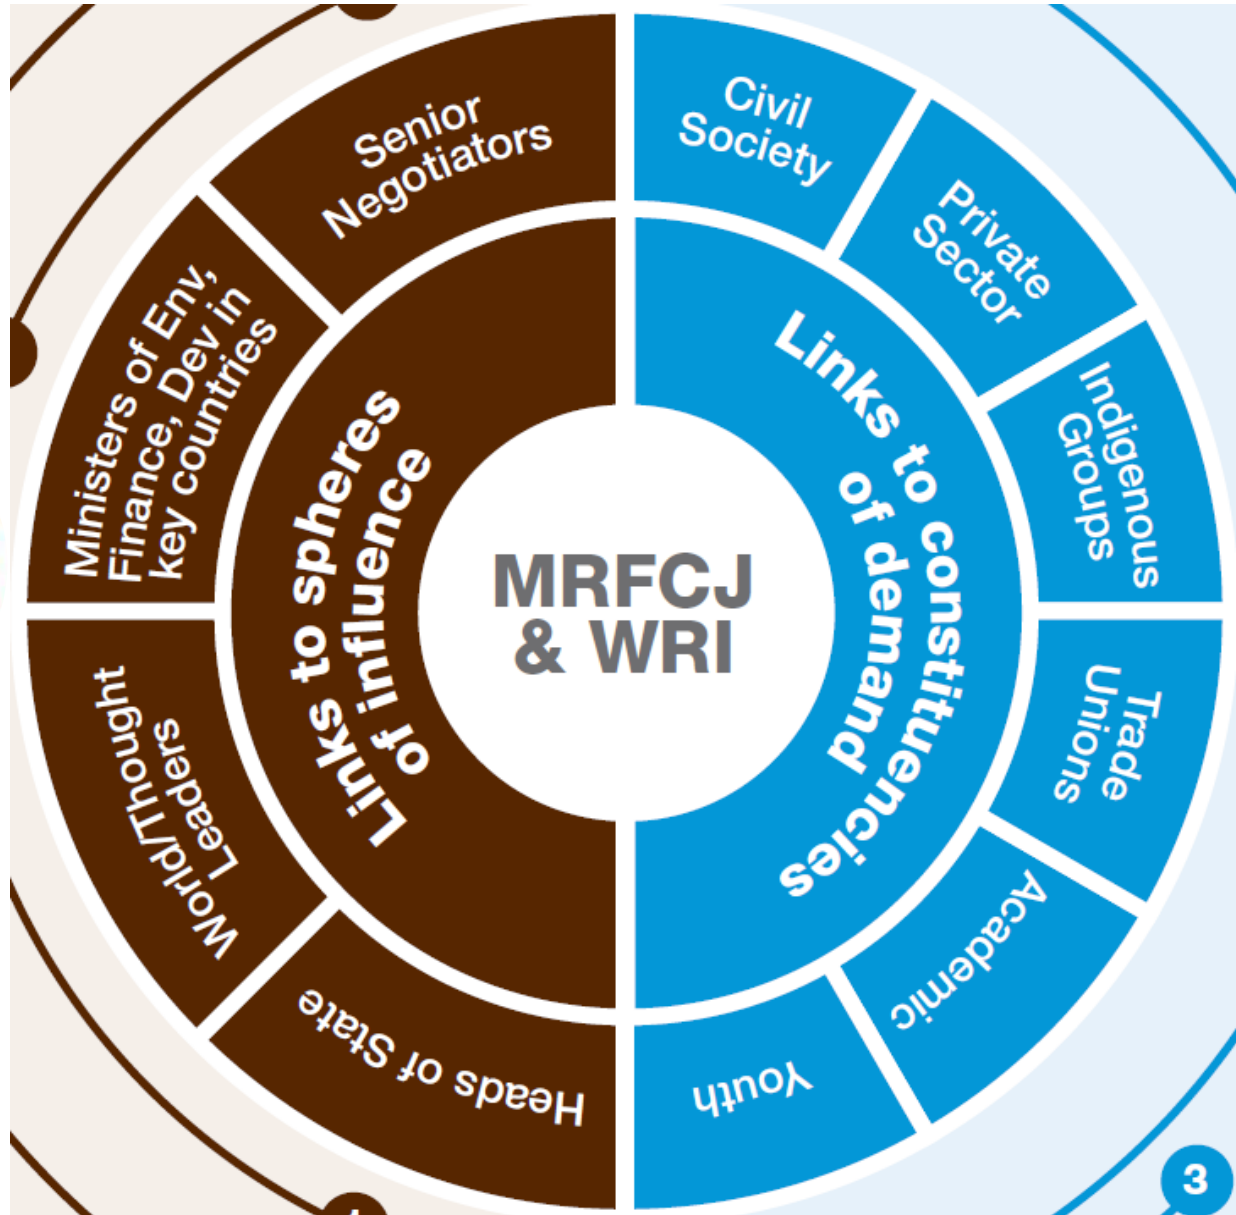

24 members - provide advice, strategic guidance and oversight and champion the Dialogue's principles, objectives and outcomes

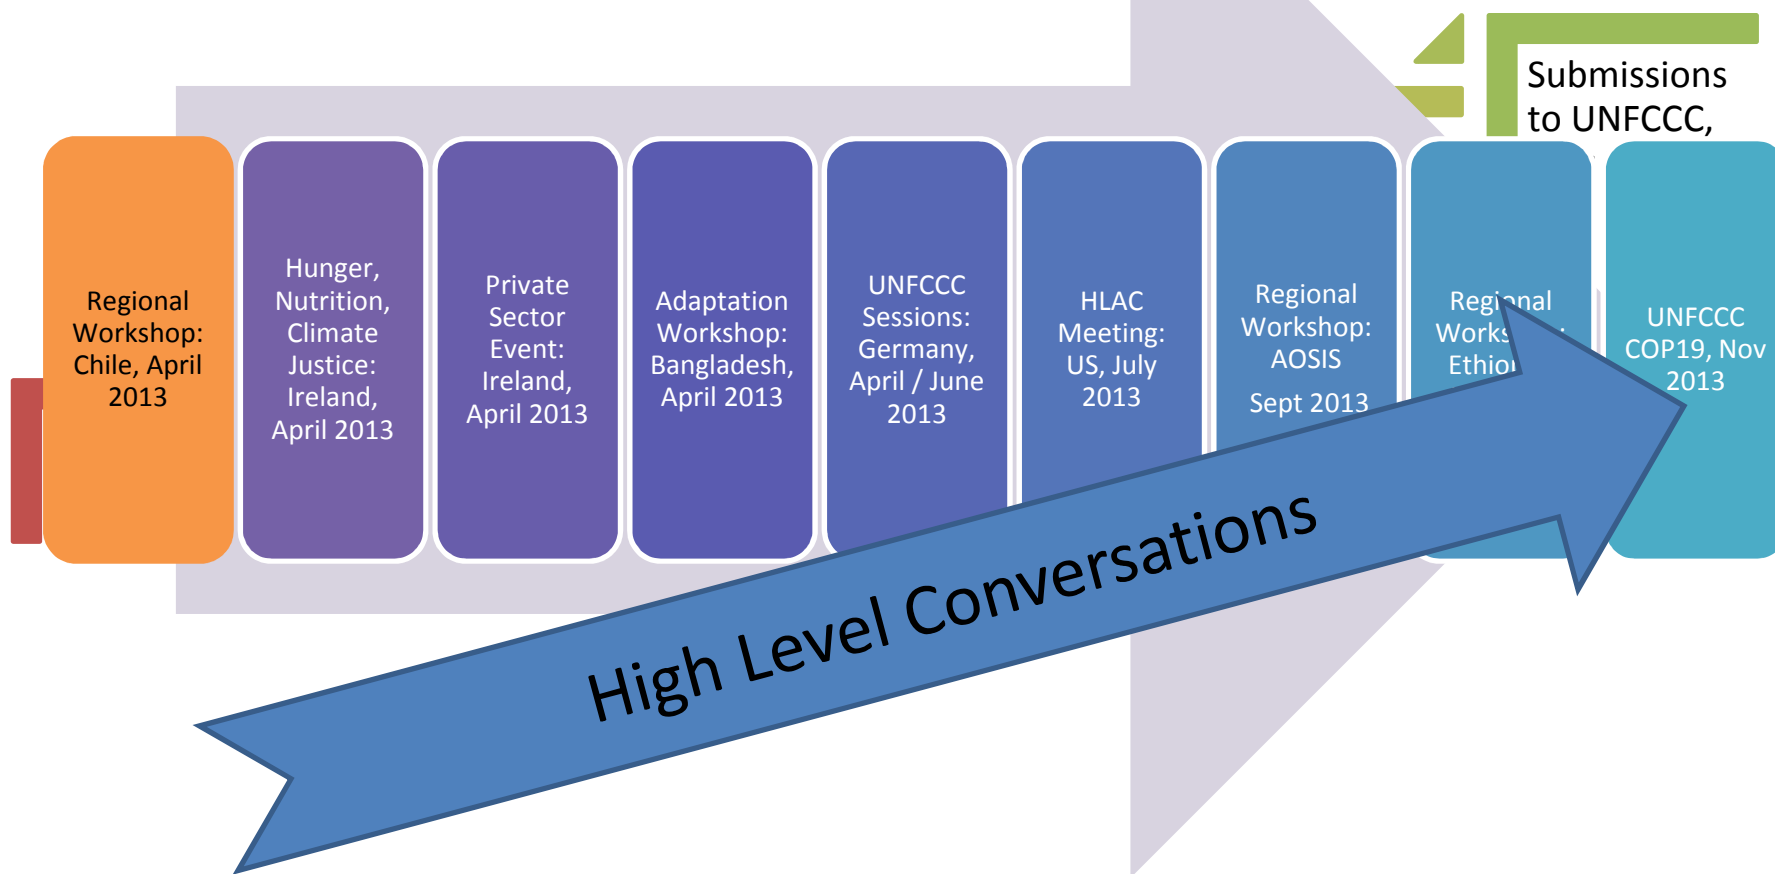

Steering Committee

LINKING CONSTITUENCIES OF DEMAND TO SPHERES OF INFLUENCE

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE TO DATE UPCOMING ACTIVITIES IN 2013

WORLD
RESOURCES
INSTITUTE

Mary Robinson
Foundation
Climate Justice

Thank you!

*Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly. Martin Luther King, Jr.